The following is an extract from FC Beazley's 'A Visitation of Some Families - Volume 1' (Birkenhead, 1899) and is based on a manuscript copy of the auto- biography of Richard Gilbert (Jelbeart) RN, EISC that was, at that time (1899?) in the possession of his daughter, Mrs Helen Kendall. He writes: "I think it right to give here the reason that induced me to alter my surname from Jelbeart to Jelbard, and after that to Gilbert. When I was a very young lad at my second school, my master, Mr Martin Wright, would always write my name in my copy and other books 'Jelbard'; whether he thought it the the right rendering or not I cannot say at this distant period, probably I never gave it a thought and might have fancied at that time that he knew better than myself how my name should be written, and when I went from school into HM Navy I was entered on the ship's books as 'Richard Jelbard' and bore that name whilst I remained in the service, but, confound it all, my associates etc. began telling me they never heard such a name, and to pronounce it as I did with the accent on the 'bard' would be too big a mouthfull for them to accomplish in a general way. In spite of all I could say I became 'Gilbert', but always signed 'Jelbeart'. On joining the East India Company's service I thought I would spell my name more in harmony with that I was called by everyone and entered myself on the 'Asia's' books 'Richard Gilbert'." Richard Jelbeart was serving on HM Brig 'Zephyr' in 1812 when it captured the 22 gunned American schooner, the 'Antelope'. In 1815 he was serving on HMS Malta at the reduction of Gaeta and was awarded a medal. He left the sea in 1817 (at the age of 23) and became a copper merchant. Charles died 6 May 1972, buried: May 1972, Zennor Churchyard. The following is an extract from a book entitled 'Tremedda Days, 1900-1944' by Alison Symons. Alison is a daughter of the Griggs family of Zennor and Charlie Jelbert was a neighbour at Carnelloe Farm.

"During thick fog a wreck took place off Gurnard's Head. A German coaster, the 'Traute Sarnow', carrying a cargo of coal, went aground on the rocks. It was a Sunday evening, and fortunately the sea was calm... The ship's crew were able to scramble onto the rocks, the Captain carrying a much-prized case of drink. However, while climbing over the rocks, he dropped the case and all the bottles were smashed. Hazel Oliver (nee Jelbert) was given the ship's puppy to hold... Charlie Jelbert carried home enormous hatch covers on his powerful shoulders, and the ship's toilet, even though he and his cart horse had been legally hired by the wreck owners to pull many metal plates and parts of the ship up to the cliff top. Charlie, a tall powerful man with a shock of dark curly hair, from Carnelloe Farm, was the most enthusiastic wrecker in the village. It was said he could smell a wreck. Nothing was too heavy for him to tackle, nor any cliff face too steep to climb. He spent hours searching the sea shore often wading into the water to catch some floating object. From the direction of the wind he knew exactly which cove to visit. He had many highly polished brass objects in his house including a ship's bell and shell cases of the First World War."

Charlie Jelbert was a good singer, with a powerful bass voice; he married Hilda (who, when she was 14 worked for DH Lawrence and his (German) wife Frieda when they lived for a while in one of the cottages (Eagle's Nest) near Tremedda). Hilda was also musical, had a good singing voice, and was the church organist MI (Zennor Churchyard): In Loving Memory of Charlie Jelbert of Carnelloe, Zennor, who died May 6th 1972, aged 74 years. WEE TOTS TRAVEL ALONE SAFELY FROM OLD LAND Boys 4 and 2 Years old Respectively, Made Long Trip in Comfort and Safety.

This week two little lads, Godfrey Jelbert, aged 4 years, and Jack Jelbert, aged 2 years, arrived here safely after making the long trip from England unaccompanied by adult relatives or guardians. The little brothers were coming out to join their parents, Mr and Mrs Jelbert of 48 Broadway, Timmins. Mr and Mrs Jelbert came to Timmins last Spring, leaving the boys with relatives in the Old Land, as they did not know whether or not they would locate here permanently. Recently, however, having settled in Timmins, they enquired as to the best way to get the little lads out here to the family circle. "Not necessary at all for anyone to go after them, or for anyone to come out with them," said Mr JK Moore, Timmins agent for the Cunard Line, who explained that the shipping company would look after them and give the little lads care and attention that could not be excelled. That Mr Moore knew whereof he spoke is evidenced by the following paragraph from The Montreal Star of Friday last, and still more, by the safe arrival of the two lads:-

"When the Cunarden Antonia arrives at Halifax during the week-end, two intrepid young voyagers will be taken under the parental wing of the Canadian National Railways. The voyagers are Masters Godfrey and Jack Jelbert, aged 4 and 2, respectively. They are bound for Timmins, Ontario. The boys are making the long journey unaccompanied, but they have not lacked friends. They were taken in charge in London, England, by a traffic officer of the European department of the National Railways and escorted by him to Southampton where they were placed on board the Antonia. During the sea voyage they are being well looked after by the chief stewardess. At Halifax, an officer of the Canadian National Railways will meet them, put them on board the special boat train and accompany them to Montreal. At Montreal they will be placed in the care of the conductor and a porterof "The Continental Limited" and escorted to Porquis Junction where they change trains for Timmins. During the past year or two , the Canadian National Railway have become adept in caring for children making long journeys unaccompanied. Officers of the Traffic Depart state that during the last year alone more than one hundred children under twelve years of age, travelled long distances over the lines of the company and in the care of the officers of the company. Four of these travelled to California from the east, several to Vancouver and a large number to other points." Audrey: Raised by grandparents - Mr & Mrs ? Treloar- Phillips. (An account of the unfortunate death of Edward Thomas, aged 17, of Chycornick Terrace, Gulval)

'Thomas was apprenticed as a painter to James Jelbert (#444) and on the morning of Tuesday 24 February 1914 had gone with his empolyer's son (James Evans Jelbert) to Ridgovean Farm to paint greenhouses. Thomas was standing on the ground cleaning a spouting two and a half feet from the ground. There was a crash of breaking glass and Mr Jelbert rushed around and saw Thomas with his hand to his throat, blood spouting out . Mr Jelbert rushed to him and caught him as he fell. He shouted for help, but the youth died saying he slipped his foot. The glass had severed a main artery. Mr Jelbert guessed that Thomas had climbed up to be able to clean better, had slipped and went through the glass. Only a one foot square piece of glass had been broken.'

A coroner's inquest was held and also reported in The Cornishman. This gave further details of the accident.

'Mr Jelbert (junior) of 2 Helnoweth Cottages, Gulval, carpenter and wheelwright, gave evidence. The deceased had been brushing out the water course between two greenhouses. Two panes of glass had been broken. Mr Jelbert had tried to stop the flow of blood with his handkerchief and had carried the lad 50 yards, shouting for help, to the farm house. Mr Hosking and men from Baseley's Mill arrived and helped carry Thomas into the strawhouse. Dr Lawry was phoned and Nurse Lawry sent for, who arrived in 5 minutes. Thomas died three-quarters of an hour later. The Doctor stated that Thomas was comatose on arrival with a 2 inch long and 1 inch deep wound to the left side of hois neck where the glass had cut the jugular. The nurse had done all she could. The coroner returned a verdict of "accidental death"'
